

March 23, 2015

Dear School of Medicine Faculty, Students and Staff:

It is my pleasure to announce the awardees for the first "School of Medicine Outstanding Student Fellowship 2015" – Hyun-Ik Jun from the laboratory of Dr. Feng Qiao and Rolando Ruiz-Vega from Dr. Anand Ganesan's lab. Both Hyun and Rolando are extraordinary PhD students. They were selected from an impressive pool of peers based on their strong research backgrounds, scientific promise, numerous publications and outside volunteer and extracurricular activities. They both exemplify the strengths and values of high-level researchers who will have a profound impact in their future scientific and philanthropic endeavors.

Please join me in congratulating Hyun-Ik Jun and Rolando Ruiz-Vega for their exemplary academic and extracurricular accomplishments and for receiving this prestigious and very competitive award.

Sincerely,

Klemens Hertel, PhD
Associate Dean for Graduate Studies
School of Medicine